

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
October 31, 2018

Contact: Morgan Evans
Email: pr.adpizt@gmail.com

Zeta Tau Spring Adelphean Update

In August, the Zeta Tau ladies participated in the Convocation Picnic to welcome students back to campus and promote the chapter. Sisters passed out flyers and magnets to all students.

- ZT_2August: Sisters Rae Inabinet (left), Morgan Evans (middle), and Madi Mott (right) pose in front of the table at the Convocation Picnic.
- ZT_4August: Sisters Mason Tomberlin (left) and Emery Carr (right) pose in front of our chapter house rocking their first-day-of-school shirts. So cute!

Also in September, our sisters honored those who were affected by 9/11 by hosting a tabling event called "My, My, Miss American Pi," where students could add their handprint to help craft an American flag. Planned and executed by our Public Relations chair, Sister Morgan Evans, the event served its purpose by drawing attention from campus members as well as various publications.

- ZT_7September: Sisters Tori Everest (left) and Payton Diggs (right) pose with the final product from the event.
- ZT_8September: Public Relations chair, Sister Morgan Evans, getting things ready for the event to begin.
- ZT_9September: Pi Kappa Phi brother, Brandon Dill (left), and Sister Abby Swinney (right) as Brandon is about to add his hand print to the flag.

To wind down September, sisters celebrated being back together and took some time to destress at the chapter's Back to School Bash at Lake Wylie. Many of them even followed the event with Rock Hill's Food Truck Friday!

- ZT_11September: Sisters Hannah Dooley (back left), Natasha Tirpak (back right), and Harper Powell (front) take a break from the cookout to pose together.
- ZT_13September: Sisters Rae Inabinet, Natasha Tirpak, Hannah Dooley, Mimi Tierney (left to right), and Morgan Mclendon (back), pose together downtown.

In September, the Zeta Tau chapter hosted our annual Pi Week, which is a week full of tabling and raising money to support the Ronald McDonald House Charities. Students could pay to participate in "Pop Your Tabs" soda sale, a pop tab guessing jar, or even to Pie-a-Pi! We also introduced a new event this year, called Wish List Wars, where organizations could donate items that the Charlotte RMHC was in need of; each item was worth a different amount of points and the organization with the most points won a prize. The week ended with our annual "Cornhole for a Cause" cornhole tournament, which was a huge success on campus. Overall, we raised $1,736 for RMHC during Pi Week!

- ZT_15 September: The Zeta Tau chapter posed with the winners of their 10th annual cornhole tournament.

- ZT_16September: Sisters Rae Inabinet, Morgan Evans, Hannah Dooley, Avery Ingle, Tori Everest, and Abby Nix (left to right) pose together at the cornhole tournament. What perfect diamond pairs!
- ZT_18September: Our amazing Philanthropy chair, Sister Sarah Scott Linch (left), did an amazing job planning the cornhole tournament. She poses in this photo with her little, Sister Lily Swanson (right).

In October, the Zeta Tau ladies began preparing for recruitment with our annual formal photoshoot at Glencarin Gardens. Sisters took so many cute shots, it was hard to narrow it down to just a few! We cannot wait to use these images and videos in our recruitment video this Spring when we get to welcome home new Alphas!

- ZT_20October: Zeta Tau seniors, Sisters Myranda Faulk, Morgan Evans, Abby Nix, Marissa Grodi, Emily Brandt, and Caitlyn Fecko (left to right), pose together. We are holding onto our seniors so tightly!
- ZT_21October: Our lovely newest Deltas pose together for a class photo.
- ZT_22October: Our Alpha class from Spring 2017 poses together for a class photo.
- ZT_23October: Sisters Marissa Grodi, Avery Ingle, Morgan Evans, and Morgan Mclendon (left to right) proudly hold our letters.
- ZT_24October: Tree hugger alert! Sisters Mackenzie English, Kelly Klimas, Mason Tomberlin, and Payton Elmore (left to right) get together for this candid shot.
- ZT_25October: Sisters Mason Tomberlin (left), Mary Beth Hatchett (middle), and Kelly Klimas (right) hold hands at our photoshoot. Who knew going through recruitment a few short years ago would lead them to such a beautiful sisterhood?